

Team 16 - Code Repository Setup

Rohith Ravindranath, Kenny Varghese, Raman Kahlon, Spencer Kline, Ashwin Mahesh

About Our Repository:

Our project's code repository is on Github.com as a private repository. This allows only collaborators within the repository to view our code and documents. Our repository will be up to date with all the relevant documents concerning the project under the documents folder.

How to Access Our Repository:

Since our project's repository is private on Github.com, everyone who wants to view our code and documents must become a collaborator. In order to become a collaborator, one of the team members must invite you and send you an invitation. Upon accepting, you will be able to view our documents, code, and clone our repository. We have also sent an invitation to our project coordinator to become a collaborator and have access to all necessary documents.